THIRTY-FIFTH YEAR. NO. 17.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, APRIL 26 1912.

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

HOGAN SHOULD NAME THE MEN.

After a bitter contest the bribery trial of County Auditor, Walter L. Dean, ended Tuesday, when a verdict of acquittal was returned by the jury. As has been stated before the lines between the two factions in Republican party have been tightly drawn, and the contest has proved an eye-opener to the public in that all the good has not been in one faction and all the bad in the other. The greater mass of people are to be congratulated that they are not identified with either and that they have been independent and will remain so.

Two previous grand juries endeavored to indict members of each faction but nothing more than minority reports were returned. Governor Harmon was interested in the situation, as was Attorney General Hogan, and plans were laid for another grand jury investigation under the direction of the state and two indictments were returned, one against Auditor Dean and the other against Phillip Matthews, colored, Fourth Ward, election official.

While Dean was charged with giving Anderson Garrett, colored, $75 as a bribe to mark ballots for the Citizens League candidate for mayor, yet little or no testimony was offered to support this other than from the negro himself and his wife. But the evidence did show conclusively that the Citizens League has been used by various candidates as a means of working themselves into office and extending the faction's power in county affairs.

There are many good men interested in better government that never have suspected until this trial but what they were lending their influence and giving their money for a good cause. To-day they find that they have been wantonly betrayed and that the organization had degenerated into a common political machine, the funds subscribed being used "legitimately" among the ward-healers, if ever such a thing has been possible.

That one faction stands for little more than the other is proven by the testimony that the Y. M. C. A. in Xenia was used as a station for distributing the election booklet. That this noble institution has been a temple of politics is a proven fact and it is a shame and disgrace, that men fighting under a reform banner, have used this home for political purposes. That the Citizens League would go so far as to drag down the name of the Y. M. C. A. is all the proof that is necessary to class both factions on equal basis. The mere fact that the league was unable to account for the difference between $113, the amount sworn to for campaign expenses, and the $500 contributed, leads one to honestly believe that political virtue was not the only asset of this organization.

Attorney General Hogan has stated that representatives of each faction had endeavored to keep him out of the investigation and this does not speak well for the reformers. What we want to know and what we think Mr. Hogan should do, is to give the public a list of these men. It has been one gang against the other and when the crucial day came for public exposure, we find one of the foremost attorneys in the old gang defending a member of the reform gang. Does the public have to be beaten into insensibility before it can see that there must be some truth in the reports current the past week that the two factions were standing together to defeat efforts of the representatives of the State of Ohio? No one wants to see an innocent man convicted but to have convicted the defendant in this case would have led to high officers in the churches and professional men of high standing, for they all not only see, but realize now that the Citizens League was to be the motive power to place a lot of crafty politicians in public office.

When it comes to using money among ward-healers, reformer cannot justify themselves in the act other than on the theory that you must fight the devil with his own weapons, or one wrong rights another, and the latter evidently has been the motto of the Citizens League. What hope have we for permanent improvement in governmental affairs if these movements are to be based upon such hypocrisy?

Thirteen years in the newspaper business should give one an insight into the fruits of politics and we base the following conclusion upon our experience and observation by frankly saying that there is absolutely no difference in the methods used by two factions in their endeavor to capture or maintain party control.

The best proof we can offer is to cite each voter to the men reformers and gangsters life about the election polls. Does anyone conscientiously believe that when a common bootler and black-leg is out in the interest of a reform candidate that he wants better conditions? Isn't it true that he is only there to distribute the bootle, being without influence to even control his own vote? When a member of the reform faction sent a reform candidate a few weeks ago into this town to see a well-known bootler as to perfecting his organization, was it the church vote, this bootler was to look after or, was it the floating vote? What more will a member of the other gang do?

To cure some of these ills we suggest that the list of workers for the various candidates be published. Nothing would give as good insight into the workings of the reform faction as a knowing who was to do their work at the polls election day. Independence of either faction will sound the death knell of both, for as long as one exists so will the other. There is nothing that either dislike as much as the people doing their own thinking and ignoring their advice.

The result of the wet and dry contest in Clark county Thursday was not only a surprise to the friends of local option but a disappointment as well. For three years a determined fight has been waged in Springfield, the largest dry city in the state, to enforce the law. Both sides in the campaign had many noted speakers and thousands of inches of newspaper advertising space was used to state the respective arguments. The dries were no doubt better organized than three years ago when the county went dry by 180 wet the wets this time left nothing undone to accomplish victory. From the first when the wets secured nearly 9,000 names in two days to their petitions it showed they had the advantage but the dries thought they had overcome this and changed public sentiment. Springfield gave the wets 2031 majority, while the county will go into the wet column with a wet majority of 2014.

DEATH OF MRS. TOWNSLEY.

Mrs. Hester Townsley, widow of the late James Townsley, died suddenly Sabbath morning of heart trouble. The deceased was past 83 years of age, and although not having been in the best of health for several months, was feeling better than usual the day previous, having devoted much of the time to her work about the home.

About 6:30 Sabbath morning, not feeling well, she arose and went to the hall and called Miss Sarah Wolford, who resides in the house. When Miss Wolford had reached the room a few minutes later, she found that Mrs. Townsley was in a dying condition, having reached her end on her return from the hall. Neighbors and a physician were summoned but death had called before they arrived.

The deceased was the last member of a family of eleven children, the late W. M. Barber having died in September 1910. She was born October 6, 1828.

In 1849 the deceased was united in marriage to James Townsley, being his second wife. She never had any children of her own but was always a devoted stepmother to her husband's seven children. Previous to her marriage she had been a mother to her brother, Martin's children.

Mrs. Townsley was a lifelong member of the United Presbyterian church. She is survived by seven step children: Mrs. O. A. Spahr, Xenia, Mrs. J. O. Spahr, Jamestown, Mrs. Newton Harper, of Dayton, Mrs. Elizabeth Owens, John, Robert and Frank Townsley of this place.

The funeral took place from the home Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. S. E. McMichael, assisted by Rev. W. R. McChesney, D. D. Burial took place north of town. The pall bearers were: W. A. Turnbull, J. C. Barber, W. H. Barber, Roy Spahr, James Harper and J. C. Townsley.

Among the out of town relatives and friends here to attend the funeral were the following: I. C. Davis and family, Dayton; Mrs. Paul Stiles, Springfield; Nora Baldrige, Mrs. Elizabeth Andrew and Mrs. Earl Jamison, Dayton; W. L. Marshall and wife; Mrs. Charles Ervin, Deputy Recorder, Leon Spahr, Xenia; Mr. Frank Endsley and wife, Dayton, Mrs. J. O. McMillan of Columbus and Mrs. Ida Faurle of Xenia.

"MOTHERS' DAY"

In an article in the May Woman's Home Companion entitled "To Celebrate Mother's Day," Margaret E. Sangster states the facts of the celebration as follows:

"The second Sunday in May has in recent years had the distinction of being 'Mother's Day.' Services in honor of the mother, and in recognition of her faithfulness, gentleness, and devotion to the home, are held in many of the churches and in most of the Sunday-schools. The white carnation has been selected as the flower to be worn on the corsage, belt, or coat lapel on Mother's Day. No flower of the garden or field could be a happier choice than this to be worn as Mother's own flower. Pure as the drifted snow, spicy and fragrant, and possessing a lasting quality beyond that of lily or rose, the white carnation stands for all that Mother is to the family and the race."

For a couple of years it has been common talk that the Xenia Y. M. C. A. had degenerated into a common political organization that was being used by one of the factions of the Republican party as a "life raft." We have heard of merchants about the city speaking lightly of this institution in a political way but evidently the public never dreamed that the headquarters of no noble institution was to be used as a pay station for a division of election bootle. It then isn't any wonder that men of means about Xenia have refused to lend financial support for the extension of this work. The recent bribery trial leaves the Y. M. C. A. in rather close quarters and some fumigation may be necessary to elevate this institution in the minds of the people.

R. A. HAYNES

Editor of The Dispatch, Hillsboro; Addresses Republican Voters of District in Behalf of His Candidacy for Republican Nomination for Congress.

To the Republican Voters of the Sixth Congressional District:—

As a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this District, I wish publicly to thank those who signed my petitions, and who have in so many other ways given assurances of their support of my candidacy. I am making a strenuous effort to cover all of the territory in the District, including the counties of Highland, Brown, Clermont, Warren, Clinton and Greene in the short time before the primaries, and meet the voters personally; but with such an extensive scope of territory to cover in a few weeks, it is very probable that I will not be able to talk to every body personally. Therefore the newspapers of the District afford the next best medium for conference with the voters.

After having met and talked with hundreds of the voters of the District, I am very strongly impressed with the fact that Republicans are confidently expecting to elect a Republican Congressman this fall. Past differences are, enacted and serious consideration is being given to the matter of the selection of a candidate.

In this regard, I shall be glad to have the voters make the fullest inquiry. I have never been a candidate for any office and am not a politician. As a newspaper man I have always fought for Republican principles, able party candidates and then party success.

No man before the people in this relationship can truthfully boast of having a greater interest in the agricultural, civic, commercial and industrial welfare of our people than myself. Highland county is a rural county, and our business conditions depend upon the status of the farmer. My progenitors for generations back have been farmers. I have spent the greater part of my life on a farm and suppose I've done as many days work of all the varieties known to the farm as any of my opponents. Practically all of our family are at the present time farmers, and from a selfish motive, if from no other, I am vitally interested in whatever is for the best interest of the farmer and the business man.

If I am nominated I shall do all to my power in a clean, honorable, industrious way to bring victory to the Republican standard in the Sixth District. If another man receives more votes in May than I do, no one will work harder for his election than I.

In short, I am far more anxious for party success than I am for the satisfaction of any personal ambition. I am free from all alignments and have no promises to make anybody, except an earnest application to duties of the office, if elected, and on this basis I believe the party as a unit will support me if nominated.

Thanking you again for your support, and assuring you of a deep appreciation for whatever you may do in my behalf, I beg to remain,
Very cordially,
R. A. HAYNES.

Prominent Republicans of the District are very free to say that they believe the chief desideratum in the selection of a candidate for Congress is "availability." They agree that the candidate must be a man acceptable to the party as a whole; a man free from all participation in all past factional troubles; a man of unquestioned ability; a man with a clean record and no political past. Whether Mr. Haynes is to be the nominee or not, he firmly believes these are essential attributes for a successful candidate at this critical period.

Using as a standard for measure of availability, the attributes above enumerated, many of the leading men of the District are pointing out the fact that of the five candidates before the people, Mr. Haynes would best be able to gain the solid support of the party in all of the counties of the nominee.

Mr. Haynes has no word of disparagement for any of his opponents, for he recognizes them to be men of ability and much merit; but in their consideration one will naturally revert to the question of their ability to unify the party on their candidacy, if nominated. It is very generally conceded that a Highland county candidate, in so far as the geographical feature goes, would best meet these conditions: Highland county has not had a candidate for Congress for over twenty years, when Hon. J. J. Fugley was elected in this District.

THEIR MONUMENT

Peasant and merchant and millionaire,
Soldier and scholar and man of the sea.
Mourning by the world, they are resting here.
No towering monument ever may be;
But the waves that go rolling above them there,
Where the pitiless fogs hover over the tide,
Shall never efface and shall never impair
The glory they gained when they manfully died.

With only an hour in which to pray
Where Death had found them and would not wait,
They sent the young and the weak away,
Entrusting them to the whims of Fate;
Robbed, I hope, they had strength to stay
While the helpless ones and the women went,
And the dark sea, rolling till Judgment Day,
Is their ever-enduring monument.

Peasant and merchant and millionaire,
Soldier and scholar and roustabout,
By the torch's fitful and feeble flame
They manfully swung the lifeboats out;
Whispering hopes that they might not share,
They claimed the right of the strong and brave,
And their fame shall live till the last men bear
The last of all heroes to his grave.

Christian and Jew, and humble and high,
Master and servant, they stood, at last,
Bound by a glorious brotherly tie,
When doubting was ended and hoping past!
They stayed to show how the brave could die,
While their helpless ones and the women went,
And the sea that covers them where they lie
Is their ever-enduring monument.

THE TITANIC

(Sunk April 15th, 1912)

Now this was the work of the hand of man, the dream of a prideful brain
That the wrath that sleeps in the rolling deeps might waken to strength, in vain.
We builded a ship that was one of might, we builded it stanch and strong;
We forged its keel to its ribs of steel, we fashioned it wide and long;
We said there was naught that might humble it, no power in sea or sky—
And it broke as a crumb 'twixt finger and thumb when the ocean made reply.

There were long, long decks where the gayfolks strolled; the wake was a white, white foam;
And the jewels gleamed and the people dreamed of the strength that bore them home.
There were billows high that the bow cleft fair and as scornfully tossed aside—
For the ship was great and it hastened straight with no halting for wind or tide.

We said there was naught that might bid it pause, no power in wind or wave—
But, an echoing surge is the only dirge that is murmured above its grave.
Now the sea is deep and the sea is strange and is jealous of all men do;
And it takes its toll as its billows roll and it answers with wreck and rue;
It has been unchained since the birth of time and it pulses the hand of man
Though he work in pride and with faith beside in his cunning toll and plan.

We said of the ship it would keep its course, and meek at the sky and sea—
Then a swift-capt breath, and the call of death in a mocking and strident key.
Now this was the work of the hand of man—a mighty and wondrous thing,
And we told the sea it no more have to over man and his works the king.
We made it as strong as a hundred ships that threaded the seas of yore—
And it lies today where the long swells play through the wrecks on the ocean's floor.

We said there was naught that might humble it, no power in sea or sky—
And it broke as a crumb 'twixt finger and thumb when the ocean made reply.
—Wilbur Nesbitt in Chicago Post.

CANDIDATE FOR

MEMBER OF CONGRESS

Sixth District

R. A. HAYNES

Editor of the Hillsboro Dispatch

Who is to "reform" the "Reformers?"

Let the grand jury now turn its attention to the Fourth Ward and see whether "Bill Neeld" was counted out for mayor about four years ago.

Y. M. C. A. in Xenia evidently has had two meetings, the latest is the political term, "You Must Come Across," which is generally best understood by candidates when they hire "workers" at the polls.

"Fight the Devil with Fire," must have been the motto with the Citizens' League. So far as some of the members are concerned from now on Old Satan will have his way for it has been costly to the inexperienced using dangerous weapons.

Doc Fess didn't get a vote in the Fourth Ward. Bill Neeld was running for mayor and lost in the count. One faction put a chunk in the gears of the adding machine for the Dr. while the other faction let the cogs slip when they totaled the count for Bill. There you are, and which do you suppose St. Peter would support if he was to get a vote?

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SPILLERS, Direct of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 28.

THE BEATITUDES.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 5:1-12. GOLDEN TEXT—"Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall (No doubt about it) see God."

It was St. Augustine who first gave the ordination address of Jesus, after choosing the twelve, the title of "The Sermon on the Mount," a title now universally accepted. It is better perhaps "The Gospel of the Kingdom," telling us of the characteristics of these members of the new kingdom Jesus came to establish, the influence of these members upon the world, and a commentary upon the laws of this kingdom. It is this, and more, for it is a prophecy of the church at work and also a test whereby we are to know who belong to the kingdom.

The Spiritual Meaning. There are in reality only seven of the Beatitudes, the "blessednesses" and seven is always typical of perfectness. They are written in Old Testament language, but give the old form a new and spiritual meaning. The rewards are not arbitrary, but the logical outgrowth of the character depicted.

The first four are passive virtues. Happy are those who are poor in spirit, it is the poor, not the poor-spirited but the humble minded ones conscious of their need. It is the poor, as to this world, that are to be rich in faith and to be heirs of that kingdom which Christ has promised to those that love him (Jas. 2:5). Happy are those that mourn, for they mourn not as those who have no hope, they shall be comforted, yes, they shall be strengthened. Paul tells us of that sorrow which is unto salvation and need not to be repented of, but the sorrow of the world worketh death. Happy are the meek, those who are not proud. The pride of man is soon cut off as grass. In him, the meek and lowly, we are to find rest to our souls. We are comforted by the meekness and gentleness of Christ to receive instruction and Peter tells us that our ornamentation that shall be of the greatest price is to be meek and quiet in spirit.

At this point the master begins to make his practical application of the lives of those having these characteristics, upon the world about them. Happy are the merciful. The withholding of mercy tends to poverty, but the liberal soul shall be made fat, for to the merciful he will show himself to be merciful. Forbearing, and forgiving, enter into the kingdom, being kind, forgiving, tender-hearted, even as "our Father who is in heaven."

Righteousness Defined. Happy are the pure for they may draw nigh unto God in full assurance of faith for themselves and on behalf of others. Indeed the "pure in heart" brews tells us that without holiness (purity) no man can see God, not our own righteousness wherein we might boast but the righteousness of Christ which is by faith.

Happy are the peace-makers, the reconcilers and the disusers of this kingdom. Not merely peaceable men, nor pieces of men, but rather as Tyndale's version is, "the maintainers of peace." Led by the spirit of God they are not only called the sons of God, but are the sons of God (Rom. 8:14). "The cause, not the pain, makes the martyr," said St. Augustine. Those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, not those who seek persecution, are possessors of this kingdom; possessing it they are persecuted.

Being is doing—doing does not produce life, and we have here a linking of the old law and the new gospel. His kingdom brings blessing, happiness; Satan's kingdom turns to the apples of Sodom. God says, speak out, endure for others. His kingdom is distinguished by altruism. The kingdom of darkness says: "Keep still, live for yourself." This kingdom knows not the essence of brotherhood.

Man ever asks this old question: "How may I be happy?" Those whom Jesus selects as the happy ones are looked upon by the world as the most unfortunate, but time has proven and eternity will justify these declarations of Christ. The good of this age belongs to the selfish and self-assertive, the good of the coming age to the self-renouncing. It is better to have sorrowed and to have received his comfort than never to have sorrowed at all. The message of the meek will get a hearing as against the censorious, and the supremely happy are those who shall see God.

Hunger for the highest and the noblest can find a supply for all its needs in Jesus the Son of God and only according to the principles he here sets forth. Jesus saw the multitude when he gave us this sermon, which is not a sermon at all. He understood their need, the state of their hearts and what was in their minds. He did not see them as so many pawns upon the chess board of life; he saw their life, their sorrows, their sins. He read the story of human need and human destiny.

Why rejoice over our reproach? Because this is the path into this new kingdom. And when we walk "for Christ's sake" we shall enter therein and rejoice greatly for we shall have "great reward in heaven."

Johnny Bull to the Front

Try as we will, we cannot keep our English styles in the background. Young chaps who at all times affect ultra styles won't look, think about or purchase any other sort of clothes.

We can't blame them; for certainly the natural shoulders, soft rolling, graceful lapels, the drape and poise of these English models put them and keep them far in advance of all other styles.

Don't think we have the broader looser American models, for we have and scores of them. They, too are "great." They, too, will please you. Surely there never has been a season when a fellow was offered such wide opportunities for being well and suitably, comfortably and smartly dressed.

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THEODORE'S BLACK-BRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not irritate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

A shortage in accounts amounting to near $500 caused Postmaster Z. C. Perkins of Bowersville, to commit suicide Friday afternoon by shooting himself in the haymow of his barn where he had gone to commit the act.

A postal inspector discovered the shortage and the Postmaster was to be given time to make good his shortage. The three bondsmen will be secured by the back salary due and through the little home Perkins owned.

The county commissioners have sold $40,000 in refunding bonds to the Dayton Savings and Trust company at a premium of $45. There were three other bidders but the Dayton firm was the highest.

Antioch Chautauqua will be held this year at Neff Park, south of Antioch campus, where it has been held for two years. The Neff Park is under new management and the chautauqua people were able to secure the famous grounds.

Reports from different parts of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois show that these three states will have a wheat crop only estimated from 10 to 30 per cent of former years. In this section hundreds of acres of wheat are being plowed up for corn or oats. Besides losing the seed wheat and fertilizer, the grass seed, which is unusually high, is also lost.

WEAK HEART NOT WANTED

"Big Bill" Edwards' Good Story That Illustrates the Supreme Value of Unity.

"Big Bill" Edwards, who bosses New York's street cleaning department, talked at the annual dinner of the City Hall Reporters' association of the need for united effort among the city officials.

"The men of every organization should learn how to get together," said "Big Bill." "The only way we can get anywhere in this world is by united effort. We ought to stop thinking of what we would individually like, and go to thinking of what we can do if we do it altogether. And men can't get together unless they pack a punch. A pessimist is a dead weight. I wouldn't have him on the premises."

He told this little story of a bygone football game to illustrate his point. It was between Harvard and Princeton—"Big Bill" was a star on the Princeton line-up—and Princeton's team had not been playing any too good ball that season. Whereas Harvard had been a sensation.

"We were on the way to the dressing room," said "Big Bill." "We hadn't got into our uniforms yet. The best man on our team walked with the captain."

"I'm afraid we're going to be beaten," said he. "I've been thinking this over, and I don't see where we have a chance to beat Harvard."

"What's that?" asked the captain. "I've been comparing the two teams," said this star player, "and I don't think that we can possibly beat Harvard."

"By thunder," bellowed the captain, striking the other man in the face, "you needn't put your uniform on. I'll have no such man as you on a team I run. Go back to the stands. I don't let you in the dressing room." "And," finished "Big Bill," "Princeton won."

Howells Exclusive.
When Howells was a cub reporter in his Ohio youth he was sent by his paper to the state capital to report very tense and very bitter legislative proceedings there. When he arrived late in the afternoon the session had turned into a riot, with need of ambulances to carry off the disabled members and militia to sit on those still in the ring. As the legislative proceedings were interrupted by the grand shindy, and as they were not likely to be resumed for some days, Howells, having no legislative proceedings to report, as instructed, strolled off behind the Capitol and watched a very lovely sunset, writing a charming description of it, which he filed early at the telegraph office, with the note to his managing editor that there being no legislative proceedings, he sent instead the sunset "copy." Krehbiel knows, for Henry was there.

No more popular citizen in the county has announced for county commissioner than Chas. M. Austin the well-known member of the Greene County Fair Board.

Two years ago Mr. Austin was a candidate for this same office and was only defeated by a few votes.

His strength at that time will only back him in the coming contest and his friends feel sure that he will be a winner when the vote is counted.

Mr. Austin resides near Bellbrook and is regarded as one of the most successful farmers in the county.

His personal affairs have always been conducted in an honest and faithful manner which should be a strong recommendation to the voters.
